

Frequently Asked Questions
On the provisions of Corporate Social Responsibility under Section 135 of the Companies Act 2013 and Rules thereon

Preamble

The background of these Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) is to give clarifications regarding treatment of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) spending in the books of accounts and disclosures in the Financial Statements. It is important to note that these FAQs are guidance to such interpretation and have to be read in the light of the clarifications issued by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs as per Circular No 21/2014 dated June 18, 2014 that a liberal interpretation has to be taken in the matter. The nature of CSR being a way of conducting business in which such organization recognizes interest of all stakeholders to become socially responsible citizens to integrate economic, environmental and social objectives with the company's operations and growth needs to be taken as a broad guiding principle behind such CSR activities. Such CSR activities should also be in line with the CSR Policy approved by the Board in line with Schedule VII of the Companies Act, 2013.

These FAQs have been approved by the Corporate Laws & Corporate Governance Committee of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. The draft FAQs were uploaded on ICAI Website for public comments. Now, the draft is being finalised and the final document is uploaded on ICAI website.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) on the provisions of Corporate Social Responsibility under Section 135 of the Companies Act 2013 and Rules thereon

1. Whether CSR expense is a Capital expenditure or a revenue expenditure

Treatment in books of accounts- In case the expenditure incurred by the company is of such nature which may give rise to an asset it should be recognised by the company in its balance sheet, provided the control over the asset is with the Company and future economic benefits are expected to flow to the company. Where any CSR asset is recognized in its balance sheet, the same may be classified under natural head (e.g. Building, Plant & Machinery etc.) with specific subhead of CSR Asset if the expenditure satisfies the definition of asset. For example, a building used for CSR activities where the beneficial interest has not been relinquished for Lifetime by a company and from which any economic benefits flow to a company, may be recognised as CSR Building for the purpose of reflecting the same in the balance sheet. If an amount spent on an asset has been shown as CSR spend, then the depreciation on such asset cannot be claimed as CSR spend again. Once cost of the asset is included for CSR spend, then the depreciation on such asset will not be included for CSR spend even if the asset is capitalized in the books of accounts and depreciation charged thereon.

Where an expenditure does not give rise to an asset as explained above, the same may be treated as expenditure of revenue nature and dealt with in accordance with FAQ 4 below.

Disclosure of CSR spend- Item 5 (a) of the General Instructions for Preparation of Statement of Profit and Loss under Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013, requires that in case of companies covered under Section 135, the amount of expenditure incurred on Corporate Social Responsibility Activities shall be disclosed by way of a note to the statement of profit and loss. The note should also disclose the details with regard to the expenditure incurred in construction of a capital asset under a CSR project.

- 2. Whether CSR spends are to be shown in books of accounts under a separate CSR head or are they to be included under the normal heads of accounts or are they to be shown in the notes to accounts.

All expenditure on CSR activities that qualifies to be recognized as expense may either be recognized as a separate line item as ₹CSR expenditure or under natural heads of expenses in the statement of profit and loss with disclosure of the break-up and the total amount spent on CSR activities during the year. Some of the items which are charged to the profit & loss account in the normal course, meeting the criteria for CSR expenditure, would also be eligible to be considered as a CSR expenditure. Disclosure of CSR spend is already covered in answer to question no 1 above.

- 3. Please give illustrations of certain types of CSR spending apart from CSR spends which are easily identifiable by the company.

The following are examples of expenditures can be classified as CSR expenditure if it is within the areas covered by Schedule VII and is as per CSR policy approved by the Company's Board of Directors. These are only illustrations and companies are required to apply facts and circumstances in each case for categorization of such spends.

- a) Any company supplying its goods or services manufactured/ provided by it free of cost or at a concessional rate to people affected by natural calamities like flood, earthquake etc.
- b) A company decides that for every pack of pencils sold by the company, Rupee 0.50 will go towards education of a girl child. The amount earmarked from such sale will not be automatically considered as CSR and only such of the amounts which are spent will qualify to be considered as CSR spend
- c) Spending in Technical and Vocational Training for skill building based on training cum apprenticeship results in enhancing the employability of such trainees. Cost of such expenses such as stipend, faculty, infrastructure costs etc will be included as CSR activities. It will not deprive the company which is providing such training to hire a trainee from that pool of talent. However, if such a training is provided to existing employees then it shall not qualify as CSR.

4. Will CSR spend be an Appropriation or a charge on P&L.

In general, the CSR spend amount needs to be appropriated unless otherwise incurred by the company as part of its normal business activity which also qualifies for CSR activity, in which case, it will continue to be charged to P&L in the normal course.

5. Are overseas Branch profits / losses included in Net Profit for calculating CSR spend?

Net Profit for the purpose of calculating CSR spend shall not include any profit arising from any overseas branch or branches of the company, whether operated as a separate company or otherwise. In addition any dividend received from other companies in India, which are covered under and complying with the provisions of section 135 of the Act as well as any dividend received from a company incorporated outside India shall also be excluded from the Net Profit. This is built on the rationale that CSR spend outside India does not qualify as CSR spend under Section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013. As a corollary, income earned outside India shall also not be considered for determining CSR spend in India.

6. How do we treat CSR spending in the ordinary course of business vs CSR expenses not incurred in the ordinary course. Does it include CSR spending that also includes employees of the Company or their families who are also beneficiaries of such CSR spend?

CSR activities shall exclude activities undertaken in pursuance of its normal course of business. For example, an electricity distribution company connecting the last house in a village cannot classify such expense as CSR. Similarly a tea plantation company planting trees and shrubs in close proximity to such tea plantations cannot be classified as CSR spending since they are in the ordinary course of business of such businesses.

Similarly, Programmes or projects or activities that are carried out as a pre-condition for setting up a business or as part of a contractual obligation undertaken by the company or in accordance with any other law, should not be considered as CSR. Such spending on installation of rain water harvesting or a device to prevent pollution which are mandatorily required to be carried out by law shall not qualify as CSR spend. Such requirements under relevant regulations prescribed as a necessary part of running of the business, would be considered to be the activities undertaken in the normal course of business of the company and, therefore, would not be considered CSR activities.

CSR projects or programmes or activities that benefit only the employees of the company and their families shall not be considered as CSR. However, programme or activities that are for the benefit of all, but, which also includes some employees or their families will still be considered as CSR as long as such benefits are not exclusively for the benefit of such employees. For example recreational facilities provided for employees and their families in the employee quarters shall not be considered as CSR. However, if the Company maintains say a stadium for promotion of sports in a city used by residents of that place and not exclusively by its employees then such spending shall be still considered as CSR.

7. Treatment of shortage in CSR spend and disclosure and possibility of carry forward of excess spending of CSR. Is there any need for creation of a provision in the event of a shortage in spending?

Any shortfall in spending in CSR shall be explained in the financial statements and the Board of Directors shall state the amount unspent and reasons for not spending that amount. Any such shortfall is not required to be provided for in the books of accounts. However, if a company has already undertaken certain CSR activity for which a contractual liability has been incurred then, a provision for the requisite amount payable to record that liability needs to be recognized as per the applicable Accounting Standards. Any amount excess spent (i.e., more than 2% as specified in Section 135) cannot be carried forward to the subsequent years. However, the company is entitled to disclose in their Annual Reports of subsequent years any such excess spending of previous years while giving reasons for not spending in those later years.

8. Is CSR spending required to be done by the Company directly or such amounts can be contributed to charity/ NGO/ section 25 company. Will such contribution qualify as CSR spend?

Yes. Contribution by the Company to such trusts, NGOs etc also qualify for CSR spend if it meets the track record and other criteria as per Rule 4(2) of Companies (CSR Policy) Rules, 2014.

9. Net Profit calculation methodology- Net Profit as per Section 135 is required to be calculated as per Section 198 of the Companies Act, 2013. However, Net profits as defined in the Companies (CSR Policy) Rules, 2014 defines Net Profit as Net Profit as per Financial statements prepared in accordance with the Act.

Since the Rules specify that the net profits are as per provisions of the Act and the relevant Section 135 of the Act requires such net profits calculation as per Section 198 of the Companies Act, the net profit shall be calculated u/s 198 of the Companies Act. This is based on a harmonious interpretation of the specific section in the Act and the relevant Rules framed under that Section.

Section 135 of the Companies Act 2013- Corporate Social Responsibility

- (1) Every company having net worth of rupees five hundred crore or more, or turnover of rupees one thousand crore or more or a net profit of rupees five crore or more during any financial year shall constitute a Corporate Social Responsibility Committee of the Board consisting of three or more directors, out of which at least one director shall be an independent director.
